

The Ohio Track & Field Grand Prix kicked off with a huge bang at the Columbus Track & Field Classic on Sunday, May 22. A record number of athletes participated in this year's Columbus Classic with 645 athletes competing in Senior/Open, Masters and Youth divisions.

The Ohio Track & Field Grand Prix is a special feature of the Ohio Association's 2016 outdoor track and field season. The Grand Prix features eight meets at which individual athletes can score points leading to extraordinary year-end awards. Awards categories include Youth boys and girls in 12 and under and 13 and older groups; open men and women; and masters men and women. The top masters male and female point-scorers also win travel reimbursement for expenses paid for competing in the USATF Masters National Championships.
